"MEET THE PRESS" EXCLUSIVE: HHS SEC. TOM PRICE ON TRUMP'S TWEETS AND HEALTH CARE: 'HE CAN DO MORE THAN ONE THING AT A TIME'

PLUS: Price on the Senate healthcare bill: "If you look at it in its totality ... we will bring down premiums" EXCLUSIVE: Sen. Tom Carper (D-Del.): Trump "makes it a lot harder for himself" with his tweets EXCLUSIVE: Malcolm Gladwell on Trump tweets: "You can't be shocked. He's being who he is."

In an exclusive interview this morning, Health and Human Services Secretary Tom Price addressed the president's tweets this week attacking MSNBC "Morning Joe" hosts, telling moderator Chuck Todd that the president "can do more than one thing at a time" and is "absolutely not" too distracted to campaign for health care.

Price claimed that analyses that show premiums rising for seniors don't take into account everything HHS is doing to roll back rules and regulations: "If you look at it in its totality, and nobody's looking at it in its totality, we will bring down premiums."

Sens. Tom Carper (D-Del.) and Bill Cassidy (R-La.) exclusively joined the program, addressing the president's tweets this week: Carper noted that Trump "makes it a lot harder for himself," while Cassidy said, "I wake up in the morning and I read about the LSU Tigers. I don't read about the president's tweets," calling them "reprehensible."

On the Senate healthcare bill, Carper said, "This is a great opportunity to pause. This is a great opportunity for guys like Bill and me and others to say, 'What is it in the Affordable Care Act that we should fix, that needs to be fixed?'"

Malcolm Gladwell, writer for The New Yorker and host of the "Revisionist History" podcast, told Todd that "the only thing worse than a complete lack of trust between the press and the government is press and a government that are completely chummy." And when it comes to the president's tweets, "Trump is not behaving out of character in those moments. That's sort of a crucial thing to remember. It's why you can't be shocked. He's being who he is."

Radio talk show host and MSNBC host Hugh Hewitt, NBC News' Kasie Hunt, BBC News' Katty Kay and The Washington Post's Eugene Robinson joined this morning's roundtable and reacted to Trump's latest tweet this morning, which featured a video of him wrestling a CNN avatar.

“MEET THE PRESS” EXCLUSIVE: FORMER CIA DIRECTOR SAYS TRUMP ‘CEDED GROUND’ WITH PUTIN, SEN. GRAHAM SAYS TRUMP HAS ‘A BLIND SPOT’ WITH RUSSIA

PLUS: John Brennan: Trump doesn't "demonstrate good negotiating skills," "dishonorable" to say it was "an honor" to meet with Putin ALSO: Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-S.C.): "To forgive and forget when it comes to Putin regarding cyberattacks is to empower Putin" EXCLUSIVE: First Joint Interview with DNC and RNC Party Chairs

Former CIA Director John Brennan exclusively joined "Meet the Press" this morning, reacting to President Trump's meeting with Russian President Vladimir Putin on Friday: "He said it's an honor to meet President Putin. An honor to meet the individual who carried out the assault against our election? To me, it was a dishonorable thing to say."

"I seriously question whether or not Mr. Putin heard from Mr. Trump what he needed to about the assault on our democratic institutions of the election," Brennan told moderator Chuck Todd. He also noted that he has not been contacted by Special Counsel Robert Mueller when it comes to the Russia investigation.

In an exclusive interview, Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-S.C.) addressed the president's tweet this morning about working with Russia on cybersecurity to prevent future "election hacking and many other negative things": "It's not the dumbest idea I've ever heard, but it's pretty close."

Graham told Todd that Trump is "doing a good job in Afghanistan, North Korea and ISIL, but when it comes to Russia, he's got a blind spot. And to forgive and forget when it comes to Putin regarding cyberattacks is to empower Putin and that's exactly what he's doing."

This morning's broadcast also featured an exclusive sit-down with the party chairs (a tradition of the broadcast dating back to the 1960s) – Tom Perez of the Democratic Party and Ronna McDaniel of the Republican Party – for their first joint appearance.

McDaniel said that Democrats and Republicans “do share common values” while Perez said that “Trumpcare ... is a perfect example of our differences.” McDaniel also criticized Perez for his previous remarks that “Republicans don't give a s about people,” noting that “that type of rhetoric doesn't bring people to our party. We have to have reasonable discussions, have a dialogue.”

Robert Costa and Ruth Marcus of The Washington Post, Rich Lowry of National Review and NBC News' Kristen Welker comprised this morning's roundtable, discussing the president's trip abroad this past week and his meeting with Putin.

TRUMP LAWYER ON “MEET THE PRESS” SAYS ‘NOTHING ILLEGAL’ ABOUT TRUMP JR./RUSSIA MEETING, COMEY FIRING ‘CANNOT RAISE TO LEVEL OF OBSTRUCTION OF JUSTICE’

EXCLUSIVE: Senate Majority Whip Cornyn: “This is not about President Trump. This is about Russia versus the United States” PLUS: Cornyn Says if GOP Healthcare Bill Doesn’t Pass and Democrats Won’t Participate, “We’re Going to Have to Come Up with a Different Plan” ALSO: Sen. Warner: “A Wide Breadth Between What is Called in the Espionage Business ‘a Useful Idiot’ and Full-Fledged Collusion”

This morning on NBC News’ “Meet the Press,” Jay Sekulow, a member of President Trump’s legal team, reacted to news this week of President Trump’s son’s meeting with a Russian lawyer promising damaging information about Hillary Clinton: “There’s nothing illegal about that meeting.”

“I don’t represent Donald Trump Jr. and I do not know everyone for sure that was at that meeting,” he told moderator Chuck Todd.

Sekulow pointed to former FBI Director James Comey’s leaking of a conversation with the president as “the basis upon which all that started” and that his firing by Trump “cannot raise to the level of obstruction of justice.”

Senate Majority Whip John Cornyn (R-Texas), a member of the Senate Intelligence Committee, exclusively reacted to the president’s tweet this morning calling the Russia investigation “a hoax”: “It’s a mistake to personalize this to President Trump or Hillary Clinton or anyone else.”

“I understand the president’s frustration when James Comey told him three times he’s not the target of an investigation and he wants that made public. But this is not about President Trump. This is about Russia versus United States,” Cornyn shared.

The senator told Todd that, if the Republican Party’s healthcare bill does not pass, “I assume we’ll keep trying, but at some point, if Democrats won’t participate in the process, then we’re going to have to come up with a different plan.” ..

Sen. Mark Warner (D-Va.), the vice chair of the Senate Intelligence Committee, also addressed Trump Jr.’s meeting, telling Todd that the committee is “trying to go about this in a methodical way.”

“I’ve learned that there’s a wide breadth between what is called in the espionage business ‘a useful idiot’ and full-fledged collusion,” he said.

According to a new NBC News/Wall Street Journal poll finding debuting on this morning's network broadcast, Trump's job approval rating in the American counties that fueled his 2016 victory stands at 50 percent. The full NBC News/Wall Street Journal poll will be released later this week.

Joining this morning's program for insight and analysis were NBC News' Tom Brokaw, Squire Patton Boggs' Al Cardenas, presidential historian Doris Kearns Goodwin and AEI's Danielle Pletka.

HHS SEC. PRICE TELLS CHUCK TODD 'OUR JOB IS TO FOLLOW THE LAW OF THE LAND' WHEN IT COMES TO OBAMACARE

Sen. Susan Collins (R-Maine): Kelly will "bring some order and discipline to the West Wing" Former Trump Campaign Manager Lewandowski advises Kelly to "not try to change Donald Trump ... It's what the American people voted for" PLUS: Lewandowski says his recommendation to Trump is to "fire Richard Cordray"

When it comes to the Affordable Care Act, "our job is to follow the law of the land," Health and Human Services Sec. Tom Price told "Meet the Press" moderator this morning, adding that "the current law right now is failing the American people."

He also called on Congress "to go home and talk to their constituents" about health care and renewed the call to "repeal and replace" the ACA. ..

Senator Susan Collins (R-Maine), one of the three GOP senators to vote down the "skinny repeal" of the ACA this week, said that, when it comes to health care, "most of the input that I've had from the White House has been from the vice president and from the administrator of the Medicare and Medicaid programs."

She expanded on a hot-mic moment she had with Sen. Jack Reed (D-R.I.), in which she said "I'm worried" in response to him appearing to call President Trump "crazy": "Actually what I was talking about is the president's budget."

Collins reacted to DHS Sec. John Kelly's new role as White House Chief of Staff, noting that he'll "do a good job" and "bring some order and discipline to the West Wing." She also responded to speculation that Attorney General Sessions may be fired: "if he's being moved because of his correct decision to recuse himself, I think that's a mistake." ..

Former Trump campaign manager Corey Lewandowski exclusively joined the program, advising Trump's new chief of staff to "not try to change Donald Trump ... That is what the American people voted for."

He also called for the firing of Richard Cordray, the first director of the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau: "It's my recommendation to the President of the United States to fire Richard Cordray, and if he wants to run for the governor of Ohio, go do it, but my concern is, you've got an unelected bureaucrat sitting in an office right now, and I hope that the new chief of staff looks at him moving forward and saying it's time to act decisively."

Democratic strategist Cornell Belcher, The New York Times' Helene Cooper, MSNBC's Hugh Hewitt and POLITICO's Eliana Johnson joined this morning's roundtable for analysis of this week in news.

"MEET THE PRESS" EXCLUSIVE: GOV. BROWN ENDORSES CALIFORNIA "SANCTUARY CITIES" LAWSUIT AGAINST TRUMP ADMINISTRATION

In an exclusive interview with "Meet the Press" moderator Chuck Todd, California Gov. Jerry Brown (D) supported the idea of a lawsuit over President Trump's latest attempt to punish so-called "sanctuary cities," arguing that it's "something that our independent attorney general can decide, but it might just be very helpful to get into court and resolve this in a judicial forum rather than in the rhetoric of politicians talking past one another."

"A few judicious forums to resolve this dispute between the federal government and California – I think – can be very helpful for the whole country, and in a dispassionate way," the governor added. "Because this back and forth by politicians, it doesn't really clarify some of the difficulties of the paramount law of the federal government colliding with the sovereign law of the 50 states."

“MEET THE PRESS” EXCLUSIVES: GOV. BROWN SAYS PARTY LITMUS TEST SHOULD BE INTELLIGENCE, SEN. FLAKE ‘WISHES PARTY WOULD HAVE STOOD UP’ TO BIRTHERISM

Ariz. Sen. Flake Shoots Down Leaving the GOP: “I’m a proud Republican” Calif. Gov. Brown: “Pelosi is a pillar of the Democratic Party, and the answer is not to try to replace her” ALSO: Brown endorses California “sanctuary cities” lawsuit against Trump administration

“You have to have a party that rises above the more particular issues to the generic,” California Gov. Jerry Brown (D) told moderator Chuck Todd this morning on a special edition of “Meet the Press: Our Broken Politics.” When asked whether abortion should be a litmus test for Democrats, Brown said, “The litmus test should be intelligence, caring about ... the common man.”

On party leadership, Brown says that “if you added up pluses and minuses, I think Nancy Pelosi is a major pillar of the Democratic Party. And the answer is not to try to replace her with somebody, but to make sure the candidates represent and can empathize and be a part of the district they’re running in.”

Brown also supported the idea of a lawsuit over President Trump’s latest attempt to punish so-called “sanctuary cities.” ..

Todd exclusively spoke with Sen. Jeff Flake (R-Ariz.), calling the senator’s new book, “Conscience of a Conservative” “as much of an indictment on the Republican leadership of the last 15 years as it is on Donald Trump.” Despite this, Flake says he didn’t think about leaving the party: “Not at all. I’m a proud Republican. Lifelong Republican. And I’m from Arizona. Arizona tends to elect independent-minded people and people who stand on principle, so I’m doing what I think my voters expect of me.”

Flake shared that he wishes the party would stand up more to “stuff that is demonstrably false,” including birtherism: “I wish that we, as a party, would have stood up, for example, when the birtherism thing was going along. A lot of people did stand up but not enough.”

On this special broadcast exploring the country’s fractured politics, Todd took a look at the disappearing center over the years.

Dan Balz of The Washington Post, David French of National Review, Democratic strategist Heather McGhee and Andrea Mitchell of NBC News joined this morning’s roundtable for insight and analysis on the polarization between the two parties.

Former Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to President Bush and President Obama

MTP EXCLUSIVE: FMR. ADM. MULLEN: CHARLOTTESVILLE 'NOT JUST ABOUT THE PRESIDENT ... LEADERS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY NEED TO START STANDING UP'

When asked if President Trump did enough today in response to the Charlottesville rally, former Chairman of the Joint Chief of Staffs Adm. Mike Mullen exclusively told "Meet the Press" moderator Chuck Todd "it's not just about the president from my perspective. I think political leaders, community leaders, leaders throughout the country need to start standing up to unify this country."

"We are divided, and we are becoming more divided," he continued. "We need to work together as a country, within the differences that we have, but we cannot let this kind of incident or what feeds this kind of incident continue to grow. In fact, the opposite has to happen."

MTP: MCMASTER REACTS TO CHARLOTTESVILLE: 'OF COURSE IT'S TERRORISM,' TRUMP'S CONDEMNATION 'INCLUDES WHITE SUPREMACISTS AND NEO-NAZIS'

McMaster says reporting on his relationship with Bannon is "just a lot of noise," declines to answer if they can work in the same White House McMaster defends Tillerson following Gorka's comments: "We should always take Secretary of State Tillerson at his word" PLUS: Charlottesville Mayor: "It's on the president and on all of us to say 'enough is enough'"

"Of course, it was terrorism," Lt. Gen. H.R. McMaster, national security adviser to President Trump, told "Meet the Press" moderator Chuck Todd this morning in reaction to the Charlottesville rally violence.

When asked why Trump did not single-out the neo-Nazis or white supremacists in his response, McMaster said, "When he condemned bigotry and hatred on all sides, that includes white supremacists and neo-Nazis, and I think it's clear. I know it's clear in his mind."

The national security adviser reacted to recent criticism about Secretary Tillerson from Sebastian Gorka, deputy assistant to the president, who had told the BBC that the secretary on "military matters is simply nonsensical," telling Todd: "We should always take Secretary of State Tillerson at his word."

McMaster also called the speculation about his relationship with the president's senior counselor Steve Bannon "just a lot of noise," repeatedly declining to answer whether they can work in the same White House.

The show's other guests also responded to the Charlottesville violence. Adm. Mike Mullen, former chairman of the Joint Chief of Staffs, exclusively told Todd: "It's not just about the president from my perspective. I think political leaders, community leaders, leaders throughout the country need to start standing up to unify this country." Charlottesville Mayor Michael Signer said, "It's on the president and on all of us to say 'enough is enough.'"

NBC News correspondent Tom Costello reported from the ground in Charlottesville on the aftermath from the rally. He also caught up with Virginia Gov. Terry McAuliffe (D) in an exclusive, on-camera interview, in which McAuliffe said the suspect “is a terrorist, and he used his car as a weapon.”

The New York Times’ Helene Cooper, National Review’s Rich Lowry, MSNBC’s Joy Reid and The Cook Political Report’s Amy Walter joined this morning’s roundtable for insight, addressing how “this was a moment the president could have elevated himself.”

ALSO: Young: Trump “made a mistake in thinking that living was easy”

PLUS: New NBC News/Marist polls show Trump’s job rating is below 40 percent in three key states

-- In an exclusive interview on NBC News’ “Meet the Press,” former Rep. J.C. Watts (R-Okla.) told moderator Chuck Todd that if members of Congress are “silent, intentionally or unintentionally, they wear the cap saying, “We agree with that.””

“Over the last seven months, there’s been ample opportunity to disagree with the president on many issues,” Watts said. “This is not a time for us to be afraid of being tweeted. You know, this is not a time for us to suppress our convictions.”

He added: “I’m quite disappointed, Chuck, that we didn’t have more on the faith council to resign, or at least speak out.”

Civil rights icon Andrew Young, also a former United Nations ambassador and Atlanta mayor, exclusively shared his insights on this “week of misunderstandings”: “We originally sought to redeem the soul of America from the triple evils of race, war and poverty. Most of the issues that we’re dealing with now are related to poverty. But we still want to put everything in a racial context. The reason I feel uncomfortable condemning the Klan types is – they are almost the poorest of the poor. They are the forgotten Americans.”

Young said that President Trump is “still politicking and thinking nationally, as a nationalist” and that he “made a mistake in thinking that living was easy and it just is not.” ..

New NBC News/Marist poll numbers from the key Trump states of Michigan, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin debuted on the broadcast, revealing the president’s job rating is below 40 percent in all three states.

Todd also moderated a discussion between Richard Cohen of the Southern Poverty Law Center and Mark Bray, author of “Antifa: The Anti-Fascist Handbook,” on how to respond to white supremacists when they take to the streets.

Former Rep. Donna Edwards (D-Md.), The Weekly Standard’s Stephen Hayes, The Wall Street Journal’s Peggy Noonan, also a new NBC News and MSNBC political contributor, and The Washington Post’s Eugene Robinson discussed the president’s reaction to Charlottesville. Julius Krein, who wrote the viral column “I Voted for Trump. FEMA Administrator: "It's going to be years" of recovery effort from Hurricane Harvey

Gov. John Kasich (R-Ohio) exclusively ruled out a 2020 run with Gov. John Hickenlooper (D-Colo.) this morning on "Meet the Press," telling moderator Chuck Todd: "The answer is no."

"First of all, you couldn't pronounce it. And secondly, you couldn't fit it on a bumper sticker," said Kasich. "Because Hickenlooper and I work together, cynics out there say, 'Well, they want something.' Because we want to stabilize health care and make sure that poor people have something, people assume there's a motive."

He also addressed President Trump's pardon of Arizona Sheriff Joe Arpaio earlier this week: "It absolutely should be out of bounds for somebody to use that as some sort of a political wedge."..

Ohio Sen. Sherrod Brown (D) also exclusively joined this morning's program, sharing with Todd that he speaks with U.S. Trade Representative Robert Lighthizer "at least every two weeks" and that they're "talking about NAFTA renegotiation, how we do it."

The network broadcast also addressed Hurricane Harvey with FEMA Administrator Brock Long live from FEMA headquarters and "NBC Nightly News" anchor Lester Holt live from the ground in Corpus Christi, who shared he's "seen very little in terms of recovery." Long told Todd that "it's going to be years" of recovery effort and that FEMA has the "reserves and the funding to be able to support the policies in regard to the National Flood Insurance Program, with which "Congress has a lot of work to fix."

The broadcast's roundtable, which discussed the president's pardon of Sheriff Joe Arpaio this week, was comprised of The New York Times' Yamiche Alcindor, The Washington Post's Michael Gerson, AEI's Danielle Pletka and NBC News' Katy Tur

MTP EXCLUSIVE: SEN. BLUNT SAYS TRUMP 'PUTTING EVERYTHING ON THE TABLE IS NOT A BAD THING' BOTH FOR NORTH KOREA AND 'MORE IMPORTANTLY FOR CHINA'

PLUS: Blunt: North Korea has been "the number-one topic, month after month" for Senate Intelligence Committee

ALSO: Blunt on tying debt ceiling to Harvey spending: "That's one way to do it"

In an exclusive interview on "Meet the Press" this morning, Sen. Roy Blunt (R-Mo.) reacted to North Korea's nuclear test conducted overnight, telling moderator Chuck Todd: "The president putting everything on the table is not a bad thing right now, both for North Korea, but maybe, more importantly, for China to be thinking about how consequential this behavior is." He added that North Korea has been "the number-one topic, month after month" in the Senate Intelligence Committee.

NBC News correspondent Ron Allen joined the broadcast live from Seoul, South Korea, and NBC News chief foreign affairs correspondent Andrea Mitchell offered analysis of the president's tweets this morning, telling Todd that "the word 'appeasement' is just such an insult to South Korea, which is sitting there right in target range."

The broadcast then turned its focus to the aftermath of historic Hurricane Harvey. Blunt responded to the administration tying the debt ceiling to Harvey spending: "That's one way to do it. ... I never have great enthusiasm for raising the debt ceiling

Houston Mayor Sylvester Turner said, "Over 95 percent of the city is now dry," and that he feels "very comfortable about our water system" in response to flooding at superfund sites run by the E.P.A.

Matthew Continetti of the Washington Free Beacon, Eddie S. Glaude, Jr. of Princeton University, Susan Page of USA TODAY and Kristen Welker of NBC News joined this morning's roundtable for insight and analysis, including a discussion on the latest palace intrigue with the president's new chief of staff John Kelly.

MTP EXCLUSIVE: COTTON CALLS DREAM ACT 'SINGLE BIGGEST AMNESTY IN HISTORY -- EVEN BIGGER THAN 1986 AMNESTY, WHICH REAGAN SAID WAS HIS BIGGEST MISTAKE'

PLUS: Sen. Cotton (R-Ark.): Trump "called me a couple nights ago to say there's no deal" on DACA

EXCLUSIVE: Sen. Sanders (I-Vt.) responds to Clinton's criticism in her new book: "I worked as hard as I could to see that Hillary Clinton would be elected president"

In an exclusive interview with moderator Chuck Todd this morning, Sen. Tom Cotton (R-Ark.) said that "if you pass the so-called DREAM Act, it will be the single biggest amnesty in the history of the United States -- even bigger than the 1986 amnesty, which Ronald Reagan said was his biggest mistake in office."

Cotton, who told Todd that President Trump "called me a couple nights ago to say there's no deal" on DACA, also addressed the president's relationship with Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell (R-Ky.) and Congress: "His frustration is with Congress as a whole. The president doesn't have so much of a leadership problem sometimes. He has more of a membership problem." ., including Cotton calling for more pressure on China as well as weighing in on the president's transgender military ban.

Sen. Bernie Sanders (I-Vt.) also exclusively joined this morning's broadcast, responding to criticism from former State Sec. Hillary Clinton in her new book that he didn't work hard enough to bring his supporters into the fold: "I worked as hard as I could after endorsing Hillary Clinton. I went all over this country. And I would remind people, you know, people say, "Well, not everybody who voted for Bernie ended up voting for Hillary." No kidding. That's what happens in politics."

Sanders, who said the Democratic Party "has got to come up with a progressive agenda," talked about his newly released plan for single-payer, Medicare-for-all health care, sharing with Todd:

"It's not going to happen tomorrow. I fully admit that, but we need to put the benchmark down there and go forward." ..

Earlier this week, Todd exclusively joined former New York City Mayor Michael Bloomberg on a trip to the U.S. Virgin Islands to deliver humanitarian relief and survey the devastation caused by Hurricane Irma.

Presidential historian Doris Kearns Goodwin, CBN News' David Brody, Squire Patton Boggs' Al Cardenas and NBC News' Katy Tur, author of "Unbelievable," joined this Sunday's roundtable to discuss the week in politics, including the president working with Democratic leaders.

Editorial: “This Great Country of Ours”

Posted: July 6, 2017 8:37 AM CDT

Having just celebrated the Fourth of July this week, I took the time to reflect on what this date truly represents.

As most know the Fourth is when our country adopted the Declaration of Independence in 1776. The holiday is also called Independence Day. 241 years ago, we declared our independence from Great Britain and the greatest country this world has ever seen was born.

I hope people occasionally reflect on how good we really have it here. Our Founding Fathers devised a Constitution and a Bill of Rights that has endured over the years. They are brilliant documents in their design and meaning. The core to what we have is Freedom: The freedom to practice the religion of our choosing, the right to vote, the right to speak out against our government without retribution and the right to the American dream.

Too often we take these things for granted. Too often we think as individuals and not as Americans.

I think our Founding Fathers would be rather disenchanted with our government's size and lack of productivity and would be sickened by the government's wasteful spending. I think these great gentlemen would suggest that we focus on uniting and growing our people with one voice and not just growing the government.

Editorial: “Felons and Voting”

Posted: July 11, 2017 6:05 PM CDT

A law passed in May by the Alabama Legislature is about to go into effect that will give thousands of convicted felons in the state the right to vote.

This does not include those convicted of the severest felonies, such as murder, kidnapping, rape and other sexual offenses, terrorism, and the worst of theft and drug related crimes, in general.

Before this law, county voting registrars could decide if an ex-felon's crime constituted moral turpitude, therefore preventing them from registering to vote. That was arbitrary. Now the law defines that list of crimes.

Some people commit crimes that should cost them their right to help elect our government.

But some people just make bad decisions, they get caught, they go to jail, they pay their debt, but their crimes shouldn't keep them from voting. In fact, it should be part of their rehabilitation.

I urge those who are now allowed to vote under this new law, to register and do so.

The right to vote is elemental to citizenship, and should be exercised by as many people as possible, even those convicted of some felonies.

Editorial: “Risks of Legalizing Marijuana”

Posted: July 18, 2017 6:05 PM CDT

The subject of legalizing marijuana is more openly discussed these days, but I sense I will be long gone before our state ever passes such legislation.

Marijuana for either medical purposes or recreational use can equal big money. Colorado is seeing an economic boom since legalizing it in 2012.

With economic success, however, there comes much to think about. The conservative Heritage Foundation's news site reports that although traffic deaths are down in Colorado since 2007, they are up 100 percent for operators testing positive for the drug, from 39 in 2007 to 78 in 2012.

A report by the Rocky Mountain High-Intensity Drug Trafficking Area found the following regarding Colorado:

1. The majority of DUI arrests now involve marijuana.
2. 10.47 percent of Colorado youths 12 to 17-years-old are considered marijuana users compared to 7.5 percent nationally.
3. A 32 percent increase in school suspensions and expulsions has occurred from 2009 to 2013, most due to marijuana.
4. In 2013, 48.4 percent of Denver adult arrests tested positive for marijuana up 16 percent from 2008.
5. Hospitalizations related to marijuana use increased 82 percent since 2008.

I personally am not a fan of marijuana for one main reason; Its usage in Alabama is against the law.

Colorado will continue to be scrutinized by other states as their legislators struggle to come up with new revenue opportunities. I hope all states will review any such decision with great caution, as the money may not outweigh the consequences.

Guest Editorial: “Congressional Health Care Plan”

Posted: July 20, 2017 12:32 PM CDT

Guest Editorial from Pastor Ed Nettles of Freewill Missionary Baptist Church:

All across America people are talking about health care for American citizens. As a recipient of health care, I know the importance of medical coverage.

We elect our politicians to be the voice for their constituents seeking the best possible health care plan for all Americans. The battle appears over party politics and not the best interest of the people.

I would like to see Congress set party politics aside and seek what's best for the country.

If a man's name is attached to the current Affordable Care Act and preventing Congress from taking action to correct the short falls of the Affordable Health Care Act - many Americans are left in limbo.

I would like to expand the conversation to include Congress. I am suggesting a new bill called Congressional Health Care. They should tell Americans exactly what their coverage is, everything from premiums, coverage and deductibles. If what Congress is offering all of us is less than the benefits they enjoy, then I say no to any health care plan.

It's time for Congress to make decisions with the American people in mind. Step up to the plate and leave party politics behind.

Give us Congressional Health care plan.

If it works for Congress, it works for us. I say yes to Congressional Health. Sign me up! This is just one man's opinion.

Editorial: “Nature Awaits”

Posted: July 25, 2017 10:28 AM CDT

With Summer well underway you might be thinking, what fun things can we do with the kids prior to the start of school?

Might I suggest you take them up to the Alabama Wild Life Headquarters and Natureplex in Millbrook. I discovered this treasure recently and it is a great place for a family outing. You will have the opportunity for your entire family to learn a great deal about the outdoors and the wildlife residing in it.

For five dollars per person, you can walk through the Hands-on Discovery Hall learning about Alabama's natural history and its four physiographic regions, the state's National Forests, many of Alabama's rivers and waterways, longleaf pine forests, prairies, and much more. There's even a walk-in beehive where visitors learn about the importance of our local pollinators as well as seeing the live observation hive.

You can explore the sights and sounds of Alabama's biggest and most beautiful birds of prey. You get to experience a walk-through cave exhibit showcasing Alabama's remarkable abundance of caves and the creatures inside. Some of the storyboards feature unique species in our state; frogs, birds, mussels, fish, and much more!

Tables in the center of the room display touchable items such as skins, skulls, and shells. All that nature in an air conditioned environment.

I suggest starting in the morning while it is a bit cooler to experience true nature along the five miles of beautiful well-marked trails. There is a little bit of something for everyone and all of it sits in our back yard.

Contact the Alabama Wildlife Federation via their website or call them at 285-4550. Enjoy the family time surrounded by nature!

Editorial Feedback: "Legalizing Pot"

Posted: July 27, 2017 5:57 PM CDT

My editorial on marijuana last week generated a big response on Facebook.

Those in favor of legalizing marijuana came out in full support of weed, while also noting their negative opinions of me.

Mary wrote, "Stupid, Stupid, Stupid, it needs to be legalized."

Brooke wrote, "Spoken like a true pharmaceutical rep."

Mannie stated, "Shouldn't you be reporting on Trump and all the real news; your opinion means nothing."

Sorry, Mannie, I must disagree, as I, like you, am entitled to my opinion. I was just pointing out one of many sources out there which highlight what has happened in Colorado due to the legalization of pot. I only stated that its use in this state is illegal.

I started off by saying I do not believe marijuana would be legalized in Alabama in my life time. That does not mean I believe it should not be put up for a vote.

Let the people decide. Just good luck finding anyone to endorse the bill.

Tracy writes, "Yea, heaven forbid somebody use a plant to treat anxiety instead of taking Xanax."

Passions run high (no pun intended) on this subject. I reiterate my original comment stating that I don't see legalization of marijuana happening in my life time, but please note I am not a prophet. If this is true, however, I sense these folks then wish I quickly head on to the afterlife.

Bottom line is that time will tell if convenience stores will need to stock up on snack foods anytime soon.

Editorial: "Safety Tips for Going Back to School"

Posted: August 1, 2017 6:22 PM CDT

Summer is winding down and for many school starts back up at the end of this week and next week. Since school has not been in session, I am sure you noticed traffic has been less hectic and stressful.

This changes dramatically as schools re-open for the new school year. So, remember the following tips I am sharing from the National Safety Council that will help all our kids arrive safely at school.

- If you're driving behind a bus, allow a greater following distance than if you were driving behind a car. It will give you more time to stop once the yellow lights start flashing.
- It is illegal in all 50 states to pass a school bus that is stopped to load or unload children.
- Never pass a bus from behind – or from either direction if you're on an undivided road – or if it is stopped to load or unload children
- If the yellow or red lights are flashing and the stop arm is extended, traffic must stop
- The area 10 feet around a school bus is the most dangerous for children; stop far enough back to allow them space to safely enter and exit the bus
- Be alert; children often are unpredictable, and they tend to ignore hazards and take risks
- And just as important...don't drive distracted....put your phones away.

Safe travels everyone and welcome back to school....Kids....look on the bright side, though it might seem like forever....Christmas break is only 19 weeks away.

Editorial: “Taxed and Taxed Again”

Posted: August 3, 2017 1:10 PM CDT

Is it fair to make our senior citizens list Social Security as a taxable income benefit when Social Security is financed by tax dollars?

That's been the case now for nearly 34 years. It is time to stop this double tax. Congress first considered stopping this tax nearly 15 years ago, but it hasn't happened.

The driving force of the tax on benefits was the real concern of insolvency for the Social Security and Medicare Trust funds. It was all part of a “Save Social Security” plan where Congress decided to tax up to 50 percent of the benefits. Later, lawmakers pushed that up to 85 percent taxation on benefits to shore up Medicare.

The problem remains: Totally doing away with taxation of benefits will shorten the time that both might face insolvency, and force a reduction in payments for the people who worked for them.

At the very least then, lower the tax thresholds. Simply adjusting for inflation makes sense, as what passed for retirement income last century doesn't now.

Editorial: “Protect Your Children”

Posted: August 8, 2017 1:26 PM CDT

According to the Washington Post, an average of 37 children die of heat stroke because they were left unattended in a hot car. That's two children every week during summer. Not all of these deaths are due to negligence, but each of them could have been prevented.

The same report revealed some startling facts:

1. Your car will increase 20 degrees in 10 minutes without air conditioning.
2. Cracking a window while leaving a child in a car will not work.
3. A child's temperature rises faster than that of an adult's and child will die when its body temperature reaches 107 degrees.
4. Over 600 children have died since 1998 due to being left in a car.

Bottom line...NEVER LEAVE a child unattended in a car...ever. Always check!!!!

Lock your car doors in the garage or driveway and keep your keys in a secure place to prevent curious youngsters from getting in these automobiles unsupervised. If a child is missing, check the car first.

I urge everyone to take the necessary precautions to protect your children from a death that is 100 percent preventable.

Hey, I'm not a mom, but I'm going! Hope to see you there.

Editorial: “Family Meal Time”

Posted: August 15, 2017 5:30 PM CDT

It is important that families spend more time together, and one of the best times to do that is dinner time. Dr. Anne K. Fishel is a co-founder of The Family Dinner Project, which emphasizes the benefits of dining as a family.

She states: “Over the past 15 years researchers have confirmed what parents have known for a long time: sharing a family meal is good for the spirit and the brain. Recent studies link regular family dinners with many behaviors that parents pray for: lower rates of substance abuse, teen pregnancy and depression, as well as higher grade-point averages and self-esteem.”

My parents insisted we have daily family meals. From personal experience, however, I have to admit the higher grade point average results are not universal. Studies also indicate that dinner conversation is a more potent vocabulary-booster than reading, and regular family meals lower the rates of obesity and eating disorders in children and adolescents.

Families who eat dinner together five nights a week reap great benefits, but there is no magic number, and any meal counts.

Everyone benefits from family time, especially a meal. Here's a fun suggestion: Make one dinner a week Viking night, regardless of what you prepare. Put the food on the plates, but use no utensils. I promise it will be fun and will certainly start up a conversation.

Guest Editorial: “Preparing for the Eclipse”

Posted: August 15, 2017 12:27 PM CDT

Guest Editorial from Dr. Tom Mitchell, Jr., MD:

On Aug. 21, the moon's shadow will block the sun from view in what many are calling “The Great American Eclipse.” Wherever you are on Monday, you're going to want to look up to enjoy this rare opportunity.

However, you should never look directly at the sun with your naked eye. Think about focusing on the sun's rays with a magnifying glass. The focusing system of the eye concentrates the light energy in the most sensitive part of the film of our eye, the Macula. Sun induced damage to the macula can cause blind spots or areas of distortion in the central vision that can be permanent.

The only safe way to look directly at the uneclipsed or partially eclipsed Sun is through special-purpose solar filters, like eclipse glasses or handheld solar viewers. Eclipse viewing glasses should be labeled with the ISO Rating 12312-2 in order to provide adequate protection. Montgomery and its surrounding areas are outside the path of totality, so you must use a safe solar filter to view the entire solar eclipse on Monday.

It's important to keep an eye on children and make sure they keep their glasses on at all times. If you wear eyeglasses, keep them on and place your eclipse glasses on over them. According to the astronomical society, eclipse glasses that are three years or older were made before the international safety standard was in place and should be discarded. You should also avoid looking at the sun through an unfiltered camera, telescope, binoculars or other optical devices.

For more information, you can visit our website at www.OnlineMEP.com, and click on the total solar eclipse banner.

Editorial: "WSFA 12 News Hurricane Relief Effort"

Posted: August 29, 2017 12:28 PM CDT

Thousands of people in Texas and Louisiana have been devastated by Hurricane Harvey, and you may be wondering how you can help.

WSFA 12 News is teaming up with the American Red Cross to hold a relief drive tomorrow Wednesday, August 30th.

We will be opening up our phone lines to take monetary donations tomorrow from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The phone number will be given out on our website and on air when the lines open. Donations can be made with a check or credit and debit cards.

The Red Cross is helping to shelter and feed victims and provide them with clean-up kits, food, clothing and other needs.

Local Red Cross volunteers have already been dispatched to help the relief efforts. The volunteers left in emergency response vehicles Monday morning and are helping distribute food and water to victims.

This is a time when we all come together and let those suffering in Texas and Louisiana know that the people in the River Region and Southern Alabama are here for them in this time of need. Thank you in advance for your great kindness and generosity.

Guest Editorial: "Hunger Knows No Boundaries"

Posted: September 7, 2017 7:13 PM CDT

Rich Deem, Montgomery Area Food Bank, CEO

Hunger is one of the greatest enemies to a person's mental and physical health. It often strips a person of their dignity and causes them anxiety leading to despair. Hunger knows no boundaries. As CEO of the Montgomery Area Food Bank, I've seen it all.

September is Hunger Action Month. We like to emphasize the word "action." You see, being concerned about hunger is commendable, but doing something about hunger will change lives. The venerable Ben Franklin said, "Well done is better than well said."

This year we're asking all our friends to post messages on social media highlighting the plight of hunger. You can do this by taking two white paper plates and on one write: "on an empty stomach, I can't _____" and on the other write: "to help end hunger I can _____". Take a picture of you holding the plates and post a personal message on social media – use the hashtag #hungeractionmonth. Together, we can take a bite out of hunger!

Guest Editorial: “Thanks for Your Hospitality”

Posted: September 14, 2017 6:42 PM CDT

Guest Editorial from Mayor Strange:

I'm Todd Strange, Mayor of the Great City of Montgomery, Alabama.

Last Saturday, we began preparing for Hurricane Irma in the River Region. During that preparation we had thousands of neighbors from Florida and Georgia come to the River Region seeking shelter from the storm. Montgomery, you should be proud.

Montgomeryans - from businesses to individuals to groups - open their homes, their businesses and their arms to greet those fleeing the destruction in Irma's pass. We've had so many people who were here for three or four days reach out to the mayor's office and say how appreciative and grateful they were for the kindheartedness shown to them -- from the Biscuits giving free tickets to local restaurants' discounted meals to the many organizations donating food to the shelter at Alabama State University.

The Red Cross did a great job. Our state and local EMA did a wonderful job as well. We were fortunate in that we didn't suffer significant damage, but we know some who were here will return home to very little. But for that brief period of time, these men, women, children and their pets and livestock were welcomed in Montgomery.

This is what Montgomery is all about. This is what Montgomeryans do. We welcome people in time of need. Thanks to you, these are the newest ambassadors who we hope will join us again -- next time on their own accord.

Editorial: “Time to Move On!”

Posted: September 22, 2017 3:26 PM CDT

I personally loath the notion of losing. No matter what the circumstance, losing does not come easy to me. But, if I lose at something, or I make a mistake, I am the first to take full ownership.

This is something Hillary Clinton apparently was not taught, or worse yet is incapable of doing.

Hillary Clinton's latest book “What Happened” provides a detailed examination of a loser in denial. Her book cites no less than 30 reasons as to why she lost the election to Donald Trump.

Some of the reasons she claims she lost are: misogyny- people afraid to vote for a woman. Maybe there is truth to this, but in this case I honestly think people didn't want to vote for her!

She also believes women did not vote for her because their husbands told them not to. Really?

Bernie Sanders was cited as a reason for her loss. She blames women who marched after the election in solidarity, wondering where their passion and votes were during the election. She blames James Comey, Benghazi, revised voter laws in states like Wisconsin, which resulted in lower voter turnout for her.

I don't suppose the fact that she didn't visit the state after the primary had anything to do with her losing there.

She now has mentioned she might consider contesting the election. She keeps citing the popular vote, but our founding fathers were brilliant in devising the electoral college to prevent single large states from determining a national presidential victor.

I think Bernie Sanders answers Hillary's accusations best by saying she lost to the most unpopular candidate ever in the history of US elections. She needs to move on and let it go!

And Bernie should know he lost to the second most unpopular candidate ever to run for president of the United States.

Editorial: “NFL Tackles Protests”

Posted: September 26, 2017 5:54 PM CDT

Former San Francisco 49ers quarterback Colin Kaepernick started it all by sitting during the national anthem at a preseason game last year to protest the killing of unarmed African-Americans by police.

Since then, many other athletes have taken Kaepernick's cue. Some have knelt during the anthem; others have locked arms while others have held their right fists upward.

I personally do not agree with actions using an American flag presentation and the singing of the national anthem as the time to make one's political point. Despite saying this I support the player's right to do so.

This country allows you to express your beliefs, but fans have the right to object and owners have the right to prevent these actions.

President Donald Trump only fueled the controversy by saying NFL owners should respond to the players by saying:

"Wouldn't you love to see one of these NFL owners when somebody disrespects our flag to say get that son of a bitch off the field right now, out, he's fired, he's fired."

This is not the type of dialogue that quells anger nor is it the type of dialogue we should ever see out of a president.

Let's face it. NFL football is a big business. As the owners start to feel the pinch in their wallets by football fans finding a different way to spend their Sunday afternoons, I sense these acts of expression will no longer be allowed. The owners have every right to instruct their employees, the players, to stop these actions or lose their jobs.

Editorial: “Preying on the Grieving”

Posted: September 28, 2017 6:00 PM CDT

The Alabama Board of Funeral Service has received statewide reports of individuals who do not work for a funeral home, contacting families who are currently experiencing the loss of a loved one and requesting money be paid for services and merchandise.

These degenerates are calling families representing themselves as employees of the funeral home, stating that the family needs to pay additional money for caskets, cemetery items, shipping and a host of other charges.

They go on to ask the grieving families to bring the additional money to the parking lot of the funeral home after business hours or go to a local business and wire the money.

There are also reports that these criminals are asking families to give credit card information over the phone to cover these charges.

It sickens me to think anyone could stoop this low and prey on a family who has just lost a loved one...but to this group of crooks obviously nothing is considered sacred.

The Alabama Board of Funeral Service encourages families to contact the funeral home directly or go to the funeral home during regular business hours and speak to the funeral director when they receive any suspicious calls. They also ask that these types of calls be reported to the local authorities.

When these crooks are apprehended and found guilty I wonder if a jail cell is really where they should serve out their sentence. They might be able to retrofit a casket with a tiny toilet, cot and bars. Just a thought.
